

Please do not challenge the Indiana Telephone Privacy Law. If I start receiving telemarketing calls again I will be very angry. Before this law was passed my wife would ask them to stop calling and they would just hang up and somebody else would call back in 1 minute either from the same company or a different one. The phone calls would drive us to the wall. It has been very pleasant since the law was in force. It would be a large setback for Indiana residents if anything were to change. Luis Salazar
